THE PHASE to release single 'Burnout' on October 27th

The Phase is an alternative pop/rock band from Sydney who aim to create music that indirectly challenges pop culture and its aesthetic. They started out as a solo project by Luke Mangraviti, after spending much of his time writing songs as a teenager. Luke started looking for band members around two years ago and has since found the most loveable band of people. The Phase recently released their debut single 'Can't Get It' to a small but highly supportive reception and have come back again with their latest release 'Burnout'.

Recorded with Oscar Sarah at Grouch Productions in Sydney, 'Burnout' creates a cool summer vibe with a heavy dance beat that you can't help but move along to. The song is about over exerting yourself with things that don't actually matter which stop you from enjoying the things that actually do matter.

"This song is for all the people working hard to make money but are always too burnt out after working so hard to ever enjoy it"
– says Luke.

Upcoming Shows

The Phase are joining the Harbour City Noise line up at The Hideaway Bar on the 29th October.

They're also supporting Gaspar Sanz at The Vic on 30th Nov.
